Networks Homework 2 Solution 15-441: Computer Networks Homework 2 Solution Assigned: September 25, 2002. Due: October 7, 2002 in class. In this homework you will test your understanding of the TCP concepts taught in class including flow control, congestion control, and reliability. You must solve the homework individually. Make sure you provide all your answers in the space provided 15-441: Computer Networks Homework 2 Solution One solution: The Ethernet is 10 times faster, and Frank's users were at the boundary. Therefore, the packets must be 10 times larger - 5120 bits. Another solution: Calculate the propagation delay as $2500/(1.8 \times 10^8) = 14\mu\text{s}$, and then the minimum packet size is $2 \times 14 \times 10^{-6} \times 100 \times 10^6 = 2800$ bits. Note that the result is different from 15-441: Computer Networks Homework 2 CSCI 415 Computer Networks Homework 2 Solution Saad Mneimneh Computer Science Hunter College of CUNY Problem 1 Consider the following server and client C++ code that we saw in class: server.c `#include <iostream> #include <sys/types.h> #include <sys/socket.h> #include <netinet/in.h> #include <unistd.h> using std::cout; using std::cin;` CSCI 415 Computer Networks Homework 2 Solution ECE374: Homework 2 3 Problem 3: (15 Points) In this problem, we use the useful dig tool available on Unix and Linux hosts to explore the hierarchy of DNS servers. Recall that in slide 67 in Chapter 2, a DNS server higher in the DNS hierarchy delegates a DNS query to a DNS server lower in the hierarchy, by sending back to the DNS client the name ...
